

Sarah Laughlin

Chief of Staff

Atom Computing

Sarah Laughlin is the Chief of Staff at Atom Computing where she works closely with the CEO to assess strategic decisions and business opportunities. She leads cross-functional and operational initiatives within the company and interfaces with members of the quantum and investment communities. Before joining Atom Computing, she served as Director of Investor Relations at another quantum computing company and co-founded an angel investment